"THE greatest trouble I have," said H. E. Evans, big, benevolent looking parole officer from the Ohio State Penitentiary gazed pensively into space, "is keeping these paroled prisoners apart. They will drift together, in spite of all that I can do, and then there is trouble."

Evans, who was in the city yesterday looking after a paroled prisoner who had been cutting up and had been reported, said paroled prisoners, each fearing that he has been wronged by the state in being placed in prison, are drawn together by a mutual feeling of sympathy.

"The great trouble is," and the parole officer grew serious, "that too many times, some inoffensive fellow in associating with his fellow paroled prisoners, is made 'fall guy' with the result that he is in trouble, although innocent."

"I have a case like that now. I am expecting to hear any day of the arrest of a paroled man who was made a 'fall guy' by another paroled prisoner yesterday."

Having served time together the 'fall guy' felt a brotherly interest and consented to keep the instrument. The second paroled man was arrested in Detroit and when he did not return for the machine, the first man gave the instrument to a friend in Columbus who, in turn, when he became hard up, sold it to another friend who, without knowing where the machine came from, took it back to the place from where it had been stolen. Now the first man is facing arrest for receiving stolen property."

Evans makes periodical visits to the city to learn how those who are on parole are behaving. If any should be arrested on a serious offense they are immediately taken back to the penitentiary to finish out their term.

BARBARA is nearly three years old and is believed to be the mother to hold the world's record for getting into things which a six small girl should not get into. Recently, after she had let her mother a merry chase all day, getting her out of trouble, her mother had occasion to go to the basement for a few minutes.

Having a mother's instinct, she became suspicious when nothing was heard of Barbara overhead, and going upstairs she found her small daughter gleefully walking over a neatly laid pavement of square crackers that she had taken from a box in a cupboard. Opening a two-pound box of crackers which she had found in her investigations, Barbara had told them all out on the floor in the form of a square and was enjoying the crunching sound as she walked back and forth on the squares. Barbara's interest in crackers, it is said, has not been so great since.

MARION persons interested in the theater read with regret yesterday the news of the death of Eddie Fox, famous vaudeville star. Eddie Fox was born in Ireland March 9, 1884. His first introduction to the American stage was in Chicago in 1890, when he was only 15 years old. The occasion was a benefit dance for a news boy's home. Eddie did a clog dance.

So well did he perform on that occasion, professional engagements came quickly to the youth. For several years, however, he was content to do his acting in cabarets.

In 1910, Fox joined the Cosmopolitan Vaudeville in Chicago. Two years later he was paired with an actor named Thompson and the two started a road tour. Songs, acrobatic dances, and black-face acts were their specialty.

Fox's next engagement was with the famous old Emerson Minstrels. He played in a stellar role with the company until 1884.

The actor was versatile. He was a performer and a comedian. His next engagement took him over the country with the Kelly & Mason Co. playing "The Tiger." For nearly 30 years thereafter he played roles in the most successful comedy productions of the day. Many of these he was billed as the star.

The aged veteran of the stage passed away last year, having expressed a wish to die "until I drop dead."

His last act to thrill millions of theater goers was a short skirt depicting a great star of the stage relegated to the stage door, where with dimming vision he could observe the never-luminous of the footlights—a kindly

Los Angeles, Feb. 18—W.

Beery can cease grinding his teeth and threatening to leave the screen. This amount, after months of refusal to let it to Mr. Beery, has seen the light. It is now on, will permit his unhappy comedian to resume his former role as a character actor.

Only one more throw-away move for Wally with his side kick, Wally Marion, and then Jim Tully's excellent story, "Beggars of Life." Wally is pleased that his face these days wearing a perpetual grin.

He has a banking on to play "Trader Horn," after he completes "Beggars of Life," but so far Paramount cannot see the fascinating tale for the screen.

But Wally has hopes. After talking to B. P. Schulberg, Jess L. Lasky and the rest into submission on the slushy proposition, nothing seems hopeless.

I am afraid I agree with Wally. I never could see any sense in an actor's having the ability doing the non-sensical, especially that sometimes is funny, but more often merely ridiculous. Wally graduated from all that when he left Essanay and Swedie Comedies—years ago.

Snapshot of Hollywood collected at random:

WALLACE BEERY, a perfect harbinger of Spring in light and yellow tie, dash into the Paramount studios.

Pola Negri wearing a white wig that reminds one of Madame Pompadour.

Doris Kenyon and her husband, Milton Sills, doing a little family shopping.

He has a banking on to play "Trader

But Wally has hopes. After talking to B. P. Schulberg, Jess L. Lasky and the rest into submission on the slushy proposition, nothing seems hopeless.

Now let me end my story by telling you something more about the talented Mr. Goulding. He not only told his story to Colleen Moore but after talking with him neither she nor her husband could see any one else as director. Yes, Edgard Goulding will direct "Tomorrow."

NOTHING annoys Charlie Farrell these days. Life is one sweet dream to him. His troubles with the Fox company have all been ironed out and Charlie will sign a new contract in a few days. The contract is important, of course, but the biggest thing in life for him—next to his Ford car—is the opportunity given him to go abroad in June with the Frank Lrazberg company to play the male lead opposite Janet Gaynor in "Bioscope Time."

One always feels after talking with young Farrell that youth is the most priggish thing in the world. This boy simply oozes boyish enthusiasm and interest. The one thing I wish for him is that he will never grow bored or blasé. His happiness in his work might be a lesson to other actors who shun at the mere thought of making pictures.

WHEN you're in the desert you do hear movie news. For instance I heard that Douglas Fairbanks is not opposed to playing the lead in "The Purple Mask," Leo D'Utricht's play.

Poland West, who will direct "The Purple Mask" for United Artists, has always had his eye on Doug. In fact,

"Lent"

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. S. S. HARDY

Pastor St. Paul's Episcopal Church

A SH WEDNESDAY—Feb. 22, begins another Lent. Lent is an ancient institution that has withstood the pragmatic test: it works, and is therefore becoming more generally observed.

The first Christian Lent was observed by our Saviour in a wilderness. Denied all human companionship, hungry and thirsty, sorely tempted of body, mind and spirit, He fought there the battle for freedom. His was the triumph of spiritual freedom over the bondage of worldly possessions.

Christ would now keep another Lent—not in the wilderness, but in the hearts of his people. He wants to share the battle with us in our struggle for the supremacy of the spiritual.

In that struggle, however, Lent must be made real for everyone. Since people are differently constituted, variously situated, having distinct spiritual needs, the same Lenten discipline can not be prescribed for all. But all will be better for more real prayer, more reading of devotional literature, more regard for the services and sacraments of the Church, more unselfish endeavor for one's fellows in the spirit of Christ.

The "Lo, I am with you always" promise can be made to mean more. It will mean more if we only determine it shall be Lent. So will Easter dawn in triumph as we rise with Christ to higher life.

Will Opens His Mail

One-Half the World Writes Letters and the Other Half Reads Them, Says Rogers as He Delves into Mail Bag

BY WILL ROGERS

The other half writes letters

ALL I know is just what I read in the letters. Now it has been a wonder to half the world "What the other half are doing." THEY ARE WRITING LETTERS.

Now there is nobody in the world that likes to get letters any more than I do. In fact I think we're all kind alike in that respect, but there is lots of them that it is awful hard to answer.

Now this morning for instance I started in on the mail and here is what I got into. I will just take 'em as they come. A fellow says, "The American-Russian Chamber of Commerce refuses to stop Russian propaganda coming into this Country. What should be done with the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce?"

Here's the Answer. What should be done with 'em? Why the same that should be done with all Chambers of Commerce. Let the Secretaries get some other job, and the Members go back to eating lunch at home with their own families.

Course there is a lot of the problems I can't solve that easy. Here is a Calendar, that by reading it and studying it you can tell the hour of the day.

That is, you can tell the hour of the day that you started trying to find out the hour of the day. He wants to know what I think of it. Well, if I could understand that many figures, I would have squandered 12 years of my life among the few that Ziegfeld had. This fellow had a great scheme, but we have a clock.

Here is one from Beaver Springs, Penna. "Reading the Saturday Evening Post, my pride fell when I find you said you had a forced landing among the good Pennsylvania Dutch at Beaver Falls, Pa. Why there are no Dutch there. It was with Mrs. O. G. Wagner of Beaver Springs that you ate and spoke of as such fine people. Study your geography."

Say brother, if you feel like I did when we landed it wouldn't have made much difference whether it was Beaver, possum, or even Pole cat Springs. How was I going to see the town when I didn't even see the ground till we hit it. As long as I got the State right, it did pretty well for me. Here is one from the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce, evidently a circular letter sent to all the Movie people: "It has probably never occurred to you that a great deal of the 'Fan mail' is being mailed from Hollywood. Now all send your fan mail from Beverly, and put your home address on it and it would savor more of the personal, and not so much of the studio, and incidentally keep Beverly Hills name before the world."

GOOD IDEA

Now that's a good idea, but means nothing to me, as nobody ever writes for my picture. If they do it's somebody that can't get anybody else, and wants one to win a bet, and as for autographs that's a species that should be exterminated, and the least encouragement they get the better. But it shows you old Beverly is right on the job.

It's about a million-to-one proposition, if not better, that "Uncle Andy" never amassed his radically conservative as that.

While it is true that the bombing of dwellbe fair. The rival hooch syndicates up there have not yet employed tanks and poison gas

Conforming to the order of the court, the

of having conspired to bribe former Governor McCrary, of the same state, the court holding that the statute of limitations ran against any such charge two years ago. That non-partisan house-cleaning predicted by a Hoosier booster,
a night or two since, will prove very timely.

Chinese Flappers Troublesome.

So-called modern marriage and divorce have aroused the ire of General Feng, so states a dispatch from Honan province over which that assumedly Christian generalissimo maintains a parental feudal dictatorship, and he doesn't propose to stand for any more of either until the present war in China is a thing of the past. His soldiers will neither divorce their present wives, if they already have wives, nor will they marry, regardless of whether they are married or single.

The Chinese flappers are held largely responsible for the trouble. A proclamation uttered by General Feng points out that young women, bobbed and attractively dressed, are taking an active part in the revolution, and that their work brings them into constant and disturbing contact with the officers of the army.

At the beginning of the war, it is explained,
the general picked up soldiers wherever opportunity offered, the majority of his men coming from the poorer classes of the population.
Youths coming from homes of poverty and wretchedness soon were wearing neat uniforms for the first time in their lives, and these, acquiring such titles as lieutenant, captain or major, began to take a lot more stock in themselves than ever before. About this time the Nationalist movement developed, which marked the entry of women into active association with the Kuomintang, which naturally attracted the flappers whose feet were never bound and who were ready to cast off many practices and traditions.

Vowing his concern over the fate of old-fashioned wives, faithfully maintaining the old rules of fidelity while their husbands were holding hands with pretty, bobbed-haired Kuomintang workers, General Feng goes on in his proclamation to say:

"Since the admission of women to the Kuomintang there are many young women engaging in work on behalf of the revolution.
This leads to a condition where young men and young women are in constant, intimate contact with each other and the result is that they fall in love and forget entirely what they are here for. This condition has proved a great menace to the steady progress of the revolution."

"But how is the general going to enforce his edict?" may be asked.

That's easy. At the bottom of his proclamation are the following two very interesting paragraphs:

"1. Until the day on which I declare that the revolution has been successful no man in my command will be allowed to marry or divorce."

"2. Free marriage and divorce are against the ancient Chinese moral code and contradict the principles set up by Dr. Sun Yat-sen and are therefore punishable by death."

Simple, isn't it? Any officer who violates this converted pagan's edict is going to be bucked up against a wall and shot. And China is just full of handy walls.

What a Pound of Coal Will Do.

That the railroads of the country have been able to make any headway at all is due to the constant, increasing burst of which the market has turned to year after year, and is due in very large part to the efficiency of the efficiency in operation. The greater the efficiency of the market, the greater the efficiency can be had that will offend the comparison of the rest. The less headway getting seen by year after year of a pound of coal.

Back in 1921 a pound of coal would move a ton of freight and the equipment necessary to transport it 62 miles. In 1924 a pound of coal will move a ton of freight and the equipment transporting it a third of a mile further than it would in 1925 a half mile further than in 1926 a mile further than in 1924 and a mile and a half further than in 1921.

What's the result?

Statistics compiled for the first eleven months of 1927 show that the railroads of the country used during that period 74,000,000 tons of coal. Had the same methods been employed in handling coal in 1921 that the railroads followed in 1921, they would have consumed 92,000,000 tons. Thus, by the additional efficiency they saved 18,000 tons of coal in the first eleven months of 1927. This means that by efficiency the railroads of the country save annually enough coal to supply
all the domestic consumers of a city the size of Chicago for a period of almost twenty six months.

If the railroads of the land can make such a saving in coal consumption by the use of efficiency methods, what is to prevent the domestic consumer from making a similar saving? Is not this worth of consideration? If railroads can learn to use coal properly, what is to prevent the private consumer from doing the same? Does he do it? He does not. The heavy cloud of smoke pouring from chimney after chimney any cold morning shows that he does not. The average householder, if experts know whereof they speak, wastes almost half his fuel. He has never learned to spread his coal, which will keep an even heat.
He shoveled coal into his furnace till he smothers his fire, reducing his heat, only to have an excess of heat when his fuel consumption finally becomes aglow. Then he opens doors and windows to cool off his home.

Anybody can fire a furnace. That is the general view, and it is probably the correct
one, but everybody does not. If the experts are right, very few do; at least, very few fire their furnaces properly—and there is much to the firing of a furnace in addition to the shoveling of coal. Because the flues to hardly any two of them are alike and alike located with reference to the wind, no two furnaces give the same results, and some furnaces, because of variation of the drafts of flues, are as temperamental as an opera singer.
To get results out of them they must be tuned.

TRIAL MARKS TIME

Difficult To Obtain Jury Because of Prejudice Against Hickman

Los Angeles Feb. 18.—The joint trial of William Edward Hickman and Walter Hunt, his former partner, in crime, for the slaying of U. S. District Attorney, started today with a jury still incomplete.

After defense attorneys had exercised 21 of their allotted 30 peremptory challenges and state's attorneys had used five of their 20, five women and one man were set as alternate jurors when

The chief obstacle to the selection of a jury because of his conviction for the killing of Superior Judge Elbert Craig yesterday, a party to sit in judgment of the youth, was his 15-year-old son, Edward, who was present.

CHAPTER 27

mean? The devils seemed to have a hand in it of disappearing—but invariably for some master purpose or other! Verily, though, they were still there, closer in by the tree. No use getting the wind up yet. Some of the natives would know.

The serang and the white man had come to a sudden halt some distance away, and now Bob Kingsley had the center point excitedly in his direction. There was a hurried exchange of words between the two, and then the man in the path behind stepped briskly forward.

"So it appears you have escaped after all," he said grimly. "Your name's Kingsley, alias Moore, or something, isn't it? Seems to me I've heard the name of Kingsley before—and no sainly halo adorning it either! No small messin' around with that revolver! Hand it over!"

Bob Kingsley glanced at the revolver in his hand. He had forgotten it.

He answered the demand for the weapon now by thrusting it coolly in his trouser's pocket—and staring apishly at the other.

The man's face was not overwhelmingly prepossessing. There was something dour, sneering in the insolent stare of the eyes and the set of the lips; and there was a sullenness to the skin that no man would hide. Too many years of monarchial life amongst the natives. Too much gin for the good of the liver and the sweetenings of one's disposition! He placed the other at between forty and forty-five years of age.

"You seem to have the advantage of me," he said calmly. "What is your name?"

"Name of Richardson—as that man's cause to remember if this man's story is borne out!" snapped the other. "Meanwhile, where is Miss Lyle? The natives say she was here with you."

He stepped around the end of the boat and halted abruptly as his eyes fell upon the prostrate figure on the sand. "You bounder!" he ejaculated menacingly. "What have you done to her?"

The red flushed Bob Kingsley's cheeks, but he made no retort. Because of the first Chinaman he could not afford to make an enemy of this man if he could help it—otherwise it would have afforded him intense delight to plant his fist in the other's face.

"Miss Lyle is ill—completely exhausted," he said quietly. "You'd better have your men make some sort of litter for her, so as to carry her as comfortably as possible."

"I don't need to be told what to do with her," snarled Richardson.

"It's you, young fellow, my lad! Your serang told me that Miss Lyle said you murdered her brother out there on the ship a few hours ago. She seems to be coming around a bit; and if she says it's true, you'll find your

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you any longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin begins to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cease the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the most effective substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one takes Olive Tablets over-cured with a "dark brown taste," bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; known then by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the amazingly effective result. Take night for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c—Ad.

PENNSY INCREASE IS GREATEST IN HISTORY

Net Income $68,160,296, Exceeding Previous Record of 1926 by $600,000

Pennsylvania railroad's net increase for 1927 was the greatest in the company's history, according to the account for the year made public today. The net income realized was $68,160,296. It exceeded by nearly $600,000, the previous record of 1926.

This result was achieved notwithstanding a substantial decrease in both freight and passenger traffic during the year, which became pronounced in the closing months. The gross railway operating revenues for 1927 fell short by nearly $16,000,000, or 6.3 per cent of those earned in the preceding year. The loss in gross revenue was offset by various economies and increased efficiency in operation.

C. H. Lorenz, divisional passenger agent of the Wabash railroad with offices in Toledo, visited at Union Depot yesterday.

John Zuck, clerk in the Hocking Valley Supervisors' office here, returned to Marion last night after spending the day in Columbus on business.

TO QUELL UNREST

Cruisers Sent to Samoa; Administrator Says Police Powerless

Wellington, New Zealand, Feb. 18.—The cruisers Dunedin and Diomedes have been sent to Samoa to aid in quelling continued unrest among the native chieftains, it was officially announced today.

The warships were sent at the request of British Administrator Richardson who declared his position was serious and that it was impossible to enforce law and order. The police, Richardson said, were powerless.

The government statement said the cruisers were sent as a precautionary measure.

It was also reported that the native unrest was spreading to American Samoa.

CLOSER CO-OPERATION URGED BY ELIOT

Cleveland, Feb. 18.—Closer co-operation between schools and related social agencies was urged to end delinquency by Dr. Thomas Eliot, professor of sociology, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., recently a guest of the Woman's City Club, here.

"The work of juvenile courts can be cut 90 per cent if schools and social agencies co-operate," Dr. Eliot said.

"The juvenile court has come to stay," the Illinois sociology professor continued. "It should become an agency for incorrigibles, children who do not yield to less formal and drastic treatment. Children who make one mis-step are not criminals. They merely have failed to adjust themselves to society."

NEW BATTLE WITH POWER LOBBY LOOMS

Norris Resolution on Muscle Shoals First on Senate's Program

Washington, Feb. 18.—A new battle between the great "power trust" lobby and the progressive Democratic-Independent coalition loomed in the Senate today in a pending fight over the Norris Resolution, providing for government operation of the $100,000,000 Muscle Shoals project.

The battle was assured when the Republican steering committee gave the Norris plan first place on the Senate's legislative program. The measure will be considered next week and all indications point to its adoption.

The Norris plan, by which the government would operate the project and sell the power at reasonable rates to cities, towns and villages, has aroused as much opposition from public utility concerns as did the Walsh resolution, proposing a senatorial investigation of the "power trust." Whereas the "power trust" lobby was accredited with defeating the Walsh resolution, even the opposition leaders admitted the Norris Resolution would be adopted in the Senate.

The lobby's victory over Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, meanwhile took on the appearance of being a hollow one. The Federal Trade Commission, which was ordered to make the inquiry, announced it would start public hearings next week.

TRIANGLE TIRES

"THE INSURED TIRES"

Five Reasons For Buying Triangle Insured Tires

First — They are positively insured in writing for one year, against stone bruises, rim cuts, blow-outs, tread separation, or any other defects or ACCIDENTS that would put the tire out of use.

Second — Such a guarantee is possible, because Triangle Insured Tires are built above the standard in quality and strength and are super oversize.

Third — They do not cause the trouble and roadside delays ordinary tires give.

Fourth — The EXTRA service they give, because of their super quality, makes them the lowest price per mile tire you can buy.

Fifth — This is a direct factory proposition and consequently we are able to sell these tires at prices no higher than you would pay for ordinary tires.

ASHLAND WINS FROM BUCYRUS, 42 TO 40

Basket in Last Minute Breaks Tie and Gives Victory to League Leaders

Bucyrus, Feb. 18.—The local high school basketball team lost its chance at the championship of the N. C. League last night at the high school. The redmen met the leaders of the league and went down to defeat before them by the score of 42 to 40.

The gym was packed with rosters of both teams. Over 400 roasters came from Ashland and 600 Bucyrus boys roosted for the locals.

The brand of basketball played was fast with many fouls on both sides. Two players of the Ashland team and two of the Bucyrus team were removed from the floor on personal fouls. Ashland dropped in the first basket and at the end of the first quarter they were in the lead. The second quarter witnessed faster playing for Bucyrus and the local team was ahead with a score of 24-19 at the half. The second half was a heart breaking nip and tuck tussle with one and then the other team in the lead. The score was tied three minutes from the end of the game and a last minute toss by Ashland landed them the victory.

The team that took the floor was the one which started the season for Bucyrus.

Ward, of Bucyrus, was the high point man of the game with a total of 18 points to his credit.

Bucyrus girls won from Nevada girls 49 to 17.

ADA BASKETEERS TOPPLE KENTON HI

Is Second Defeat of Season Handed Red and White by Rivals.

Kenton, Feb. 18.—For the second time this season Kenton High School has bowed to her traditional rival, Ada. Playing its hardest game of the entire season, the Red and White court stars last night lost to Ada High 24 to 22, at the Ohio Northern gym in the college town.

Earlier in the season, Ada administered a defeat to the locals on the armory floor here. It was the first time in many seasons that the college town lads had scored two successive basketball victories over Kenton.

The game, witnessed by a record crowd of fans, was fast throughout and hard fought.

The girls' two teams of the two schools played to a 22 to 22 score.

Harding Defeats Shelby; To Play Dayton Steele Tonight

CAL CAGERS END
C. O. LOOP SEASON
WITH 15-14 VICTORY

Sparta Athlete Is First To Enter Olympic Tryouts

HARRY STEELE, of Sparta,

Morrow County winner of the heavyweight wrestling championship at the Olympic meet in 1924, has been the first man to announce his intention of entering the district preliminary tryouts for the Olympic wrestling team which will be held at the Ohio State University, April 6 and 7.

Steele at the present time holds the title of amateur heavyweight wrestling champion of the world after defeating all opponents at the Olympic meet. Although special invitations will not be sent to candidates of the amateur ranks in this section to enter the meet until March 15, Steele's entrance to defend his title was made voluntary.

CHICAGO WINS OVER ILLINOIS FIVE, 52-26

Ohio State Cagers Will Play Gophers at Wisconsin Tonight

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Basketball tossers at the University of Chicago cracked today over having found one Big Ten aggregation they can beat. The late unfortunate crew in Chicago's famous down-state mini-Illinois.

The Maroons ran through the down-staters here last night by the overwhelming score of 52 to 26, knocking out exactly two points for every one counted by the Illini.

At night's game was no brilliant affair of basketball although it proved exciting due to the close score.

The exception of about five minutes the first quarter Harding led the battle.

Capt. Charley Hoerger and Farwell

of Chicago, and How of Illinois, were put off the floor in the second half for personal fouls. That's just how tough

this game was. It was Captain Hoerger's farewell collegiate game.

The Maroons made a rout of the game in the first half, jumping into a commanding lead and drawing up the rest period with a 28 to 8 advance.

Three Big Ten championship games

are on tap for tonight, all of them important as regards the race for the conference flag. Of the three, the Purdue-Indiana affair at Bloomington is the headliner. Purdue now leads the parade with five games won and none lost.

If the Boilermakers can hold their ancient rival tonight, they should have comparatively easy sailing to the championship.

Other games to be played tonight are Northwestern at Minnesota and Ohio State at Wisconsin. Northwestern and Wisconsin both still have a fighting chance to wind up in front, conceding

that the fast stepping Boilermakers will. Ohio State and the Gophers are practically out of the running.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

Officials of Yankee Club Express
Opinion

New York, Feb. 18.—You can play

if you wanna—if you don't wanna, we don't care."

That was the reaction today of officials of the New York Yankees to the announcement of Urban Shocker, veteran spitball pitcher, that he had decided to quit baseball.

Secretary Ed Barrow expressed the belief that Shocker is seeking a bonus

or desires to escape the rigors of training camp life. Barrow declared the

New York Club would not offer

Shocker a raise, and intimated that the veteran might be traded, he said.

"If Shocker wishes to spend all his time in the radio shop in St. Louis, that is his business. But if he wishes to pitch for the Yankees that's our business and perhaps there will be a place for him."

WILLS TO PLAY

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 18.—Helen Wills,

tennis champion of the world,

and William "Little Bill" Johnston,

face each other in a two-set match

at the Berkley Tennis Club courts today. The match will headline a series of exhibitions.

SERGEANT BAKER IS GIVEN BUT TWO OF 10 ROUNDS WITH ACE

Hudkins in Line for Champion- ship Bout with Joe Dundee in June

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 18.—Nothing stood between Ace Hudkins and the world's welterweight championship today except the closing of a title bout, which seems to be a formality, and the determined visage of Joe Dundee, which seems to be nothing of the kind. The story the day before yesterday was that the stand-between elements in eluded the title clasher, Joe Dundee and Sergeant Sammy Baker, named in the order of their importance. The story last night was that Hudkins gave the Sergeant the besting of his young life for 10 gory rounds. The story this morning is that Dundee must show cause why Hudkins is not to be the champion.

They will probably meet over the championhip distance of 15 rounds at the Yankee Stadium before all the June brides are married.

Only Serious Contender

Baker was the only serious contender to Hudkins' progress toward the title chance and the Sergeant, deposited twice upon the floor for counts of nine and cut up about the face like a tenderloin, no longer can claim that distinction. The writer could allow him only two of the 10 rounds and only in the fifth, when he twice belabored the Ace with hard right hand crosses, could he be said to have scored effectively. Hud-kins, on the other hand, and, in fact, both of them, carried 10 rounds clearly and the other three were even.

It was the third of the slaughter house series between the pair and this time it was Baker whose gore was spilled all over the premises. The first meeting saw Hudkins bleed so profusely that referee stopped the show. The next time out, both spilled a lot of carnage over the scene with Hudkins winning. Happily and for the sake of fastidious butchers in the crowd, last night's activities just about closed the ledger.

Baker may want more but it hardly seems necessary to see that he gets it. Hudkins doesn't have to make a life work out of beating Samuel up. It is a good bet he can now do it seven days a week.

TRADE REPORTS NOT FAVORABLE

Gloom and Disappointment
Hangs Heavy Over Oil Industry

Markets at a Glance

Railroad stocks, irregular; industrial stocks, reactionary; domestic bonds, firm; foreign bonds, firm; grain, fairly steady; copper, firm; oil, weak; cotton, irregular; rubber, steady; sugar, irregular; pig iron, firm; foreign exchange, steady.

New York, Feb. 18.—Friday's closing crash in the over-huddled industrial stocks and pool specialties left a number of weak spots in its wake, and stocks of this were thrown on the market at the beginning of trading today. Speculative excesses such as the market has been indulging in the last few months are not easily or quickly straightened out, and further losses of 2 to 4 points in the "pool pots" enhanced the hate with which traders were lightening their load in this section of the market.

The weekend reports on general trade conditions from Dunc and Bradstreet's were not encouraging and private wires to the brokerage houses did not even substantiate the financial district's reports on the steel industry.

Steel centers, while admitting the large inflow of business since the turn of the year, are inclined to believe that this is a hold-over from last year, and may not continue on such a large scale. Gloom and disappointment hang heavily over the oil industry, owing to the fresh cuts in crude oil prices this week, and the evident friction in the internal affairs of more than one of the leading companies.

International Nickel continued its downward movement and reached a low of 88, off about 17 points from the high of the move. Manipulation of this stock recently carried this stock to above 90, on the strength of the discovery of new ore veins that will not be developed for two or three years. Freeport Texas, on which earnings were recently reported at the meagre sum of $5.24 a share for 1927, lost an additional 6 points at 66 and Greene Camanche Copper was down 3 points.

Classified Advertising Force Plans Used Car Week

A CONCENTRATED advertising feature in the local used car market of particular interest because of its newness to Marion is being initiated by The Star's Classified Advertising Department today with its announcement of Used Car Week, Feb. 20 to 25 inclusive.

Local dealers are cooperating with the advertising force in presenting the special week and have inserted representative lists of used cars in the classified columns of today's issue. Their advertisements will continue through the week appearing for the last time next Friday night. The advertising department is to be represented at regular intervals throughout the week with advertisements referring to the special week and the used car market.

Promising this activity, dealers say, is the opportunity to use every available inch of floor space for the heavy business season of the spring months. Predictions are being made that the automobile business locally will fare much better during 1928 than in recent years, being based on the existence of better industrial conditions and the increased appeal of various new models that have recently been placed on the market.

The Secret of Owning a Packard Six

PERHAPS you, too, have wondered how some of your friends and neighbors with no greater income than your own can afford to drive a Packard Six.

The secret is simple. It is just the old unfailing principle that the best is always the cheapest in the long run. A Packard Six will easily outlast two half-price cars. Records kept at the Packard factory indicate that the average Packard Six buyer is keeping his new car nearly five years. While the same records show that the cars turned in on these Packard Six purchases have been driven only half as long.

Isn't it better to own and enjoy a fine car—a luxurious Packard—with all its beauty, comfort and distinction than two successive average cars in the same period? Thousands have found it so.

And it is better business to buy a long-life Packard on the payment plan than a short-life car for cash. Let us explain how easily you may own one of the powerful new Packard Six models.
